Future of Work

Looking forward, University Human Resources and the Office of the Provost established a cross-campus project to apply lessons from the COVID-19 pandemic, reimagine the employee experience at the University of Iowa, and address emerging talent needs and trends:

- How has the disruptive challenge of COVID-19 affected the university and our strategic goal of remaining a destination university?
- How do we reimagine work post COVID-19?
- How do we re-envision high-impact practices to create a highly engaged workforce?
- What does the evolution of HR policies, services, and strategies look like?

Even while responding to COVID-related needs, the HR community pursued strategic priorities, introduced innovations, and enhanced established programs.

Employee Well-Being

- Created Virtual Weeks of Wellness for units looking to offer wellness programs for remote teams
- Introduced new chronic-condition programs targeting diabetes prevention and weight management
- Collaborated on mentalhealth.uiowa.edu, a new web hub with info on campus services and mental health topics
- Developed video tutorials on grief, loneliness, and emotional aspects for people working remotely
- Surveyed faculty and staff to evaluate remote work experiences and guide future initiatives to enhance work-life balance
- Surveyed employees who submitted threat assessment reports, finding that 91% would refer colleagues to the program
